Caren Rothmann and David Borck transformed their Company from a Brokerage into a Real Estate Service Provider / The Result: Over 2.000 Properties since the founding of the company

David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft was founded in 2010 by Caren Rothmann and David Borck. Their goal: “We want to operate just as individually, innovative and design-oriented like an upscale boutique hotel – and, at the same time, offer the standard of international houses.” In accordance with this credo, the company provides professional full-service operations related to the sale and marketing of properties. The consultation includes even fundamental aspects such as pricing and the drafting of ground plans, which will be adapted by the experts and reviewed for a sustainable positive performance. Moreover, the establishment of a professional marketing plan, target group analysis as well as the creation and designing of logos, names, brochures, and sales documents are part of the company’s portfolio. And the service of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft includes even more: financing at particularly favorable terms can be inquired via the large network which also provides specialist lawyers, notaries, and architects, so that clients can profit by the full service from a single source. “Thanks to our great network and our long-term market experience we were able to group the best experts around our company. This also benefits our clients, because they can make use of our expert network,” explains managing director and owner David Borck the company’s philosophy. Moreover, 25 staff members attend to the projects and are ready to provide assistance to stakeholders, sellers, and buyers.

“No matter if it is a single apartment that needs to be put on the market or the exclusive distribution of a major project with 200 units – we always work with full-hearted commitment,” says managing director and owner Caren Rothmann. Their customer data base contains over 30.000 people including their personal wishes of a property object. “Usually, it is enough to address a handful of stakeholders because we know exactly what our clients are looking for,” says David Borck. Apart from institutional investors from Germany, the regular clients of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft are private investors from Berlin. “The aim is to continue our dynamic growth and we are planning to approach reliable international investors directly,” explains David Borck the strategy for the coming years. “Because the real estate prices in Berlin are favourable by international comparison and have growth potential.” In order to keep offering good products at reasonable prices to their clients, Caren Rothmann and her team regularly scan the neighbourhoods of Berlin. Due to these trend analyses David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft early predicted the upturn of the so-called “Kreuzkölln”. “Currently, we are observing a very rapid development of the Scandinavian Quarter in Prenzlauer Berg. The areas around the airport BER also promise attractive returns,” Caren Rothmann sums up.

Aside from the real estate business, Caren Rothmann and David Borck are committed to social work. In doing so, they try to maintain the diversity and charm of Berlin in spite of its rapid development. For example, David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft is a sponsor of the sports club TuS Makkabi and of WIZO and even participated in their charity soccer tournament. And the company is also leading sponsor for the annually Chanukka ball.

Designer apartment on Viktoria-Luise-Platz 12 now available

Individual touches from the kitchen to the bathroom: Designer Johann Alexander Stütz's 40-sqm designer gem has even graced the pages of Architectural Digest

With its exclusive designer interior, this one-room, 40-sqm condominium at Viktoria-Luise-Platz 12 is a true marvel of space. In 2015, interior designer Johann Alexander Stütz stamped his singular vision on this compact apartment in Berlin's popular Schöneberger district, designing every single feature down to the smallest detail. "This truly unique condominium offers a lounge with open kitchen, a sleeping area and a luxurious bathroom. Every detail and material has been hand-picked or specially designed for this apartment. This harmonious composition guarantees an extraordinary, upscale living experience, where residents, despite the apartment's compact floor plan, can expect no compromises in terms of functionality and feeling of space," explains David Borck, Managing Partner of the David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft, which has now been appointed to exclusively market this designer apartment.

In addition to breathtaking views over the idyllic Viktoria Luise Square, the apartment's inner values are equally, if not more, impressive – the salon complete with library, for example, features smooth gray, ceiling-high cabinet fronts and sideboards, a designer sofa and a custom armchair, all of which are included with the apartment. The wooden console and mosaic-topped coffee table – both authentic pieces from the sixties – lend the apartment an original flair. The refined details include Art Nouveau window handles, walls in natural quartz pink and mineral gray, shimmering gold curtains and a carpet with a cassette pattern, all of which combine to create a harmonious, inimitable interior. The limed oak plank flooring not only fashions a linear, orderly feeling of space, it is also fitted with acoustic insulation. In combination with in-wall sound insulation, residents will enjoy the ultimate in peace and quiet in the heart of one of Berlin's most vibrant neighborhoods. The kitchen unit, which boasts chrome-plated fittings, was personally designed by Johann Alexander Stütz. With its ceiling-high, built-in cupboards, the kitchen offers ample storage space and yet still manages to appear discreet. In keeping with the standards set elsewhere in the apartment, the sleeping area also features a host of exclusive materials and finishes: High-end fabric wall coverings, tailor-made fitted closets and a vintage Danish lamp create a truly exquisite ambience. The designer touches also continue into the bathroom, where forest gold marble makes a definitive statement and the bathtub, underfloor heating and a heated towel rail take home comfort to another level entirely. "David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft markets hundreds of properties a year, but even we rarely see such a masterfully executed work of design brilliance," explains Caren Rothmann, Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft.

The apartment is situated on the 4th floor of a classic 1900 apartment building and is easily reached via elevator. Shops, cultural venues and a wide variety of upscale restaurants are all located in the immediate vicinity, while Berlin's world-famous Kurfürstendamm is also mere moments away. As if all of this weren't enough, the apartment is also well connected to the public transportation network via the nearby subway stations at Viktoria-Luise-Platz and Wittenbergplatz.

Launch of sales campaign for “Townhouses Potsdam” in Villenpark Potsdam

David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft markets 13 townhouses with gardens / Attractive location close to Groß Glienicker Lake

September 1, 2020 saw the launch of the marketing campaign for 13 new townhouses in Villenpark Potsdam, with David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft appointed as the properties' exclusive marketing agency. One of the project's most attractive features is that all of the townhouses are already completed and ready for immediate occupancy. “Prospective buyers therefore have the luxury of being able to view the finished townhouses to gain an immediate impression of the setting and the idyllic surroundings. Once they've finalized their purchase, there is nothing to stand in the way of a speedy move-in,” says Caren Rothmann, Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft, adding: “The townhouses are conveniently located just outside the Berlin city limits in the Potsdam district of Groß Glienicke. They offer the perfect combination of a tranquil, countryside location and quick connections to all of the nearby capital's amenities.

The townhouses offer every modern comfort and convenience on typically compact townhouse floor plans. The middle properties, for instance offer 206 square meters of living space, while the end townhouse is slightly larger, at 212 square meters. Highlights include spacious roof terraces that extend over more than 80 square meters and offer direct views of the green idyll of the neighboring nature reserve. In addition, all of the townhouses feature terraces with garden access and gardens of at least 100 square meters. The properties are designed in keeping with the area's former historic military buildings. This local history is echoed in the townhouses' vibrantly colored clinker brick facades, which is inspired by historic patterns in the characteristic Brandenburg style.

The second floor of each townhouse boasts expansive window fronts while the recessed top floor features skylights and a light-colored plaster facade. In addition, the roofs of the properties are equipped with photovoltaic solar modules. Smoke-colored natural oak parquet has been laid over the underfloor heating and non-living and sanitary areas are tiled in anthracite. The master bathroom is an oasis of comfort: in addition to a free-standing bathtub, residents have a double washbasin, toilet, bidet and a separate shower. “The townhouses are generously equipped, including dimmable lighting and electric towel warmers in the bathrooms,” says David Borck, also Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft. Blending seamlessly into the living and dining areas, the open-plan designer kitchens have been designed exclusively for the townhouses with anthracite fronts and oak veneer worktops. The high-end appliances include a steam cooker, a Miele oven, Miele dishwasher, refrigerator and freezer, as well as an extractor hood above the induction hob. For added comfort and convenience, each townhouse is equipped with three parking spaces.

The location:

Villenpark Potsdam is located a few meters outside the Berlin city limits on the edge of a nature reserve, close to Groß Glienicker Lake. The neighborhood, which consists of numerous single-family homes and villas, will soon have its own café and supermarket. <https://townhouses-potsdam.de/>

Sale of apartment building in Berlin-Hermsdorf

David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft sells modernized property with four residential units /
Quiet residential area combines countryside charm with excellent infrastructure

Hermsdorf in northern Berlin-Reinickendorf is an attractive and peaceful residential area that combines the best of big city flair and close proximity to nature. With a host of lakes and Tegeler Forest just moments away, this is a verdant paradise and lush oasis all rolled into one. In recent years, the quality of life in Hermsdorf has got even better as the area's dynamic growth has been matched by the expansion of its social infrastructure. And it is precisely here, in the heart of this well-kept and tranquil district, that David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft has sold the fully rented apartment building on Falkentaler Steig for EUR 1,470,000. "We are delighted to have found the perfect owner for this unique property near Waldsee Lake and to have done so within just three months of the start of our marketing campaign. Hermsdorf offers an abundance of nature, peace and quiet, combined with excellent transport links to downtown Berlin via the B96 federal highway, the A111 urban highway and the commuter train station in Hermsdorf itself," says David Borck, Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft.

The apartment building was built in 1937 and is home to four residential units with a total of 443 sqm of living space and a cleared attic. "There is massive potential in the space under the roof. The new owner can convert the attic and add two more residential units with a total of 162 sqm of living space. In fact, a building permit has already been granted for the conversion," explains Caren Rothmann, also Managing Partner at David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft. The four existing residential units are situated on the building's first and second floors and each has four or five rooms with generous floor plans of 93 – 143 sqm. Each residential unit is equipped with a balcony, while the 1,300-sqm grounds include a garden with fruit trees and offer residents the perfect retreat. Having undergone an extensive renovation last year, the property's facade and staircase have been given an elegantly modern look. In addition, the maisonette apartment on the ground floor and one of the units on the first floor have been extensively renovated and equipped with premium fitted kitchens.

Schönhauser Allee 55: Last unit sold

David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft has found a new owner for the 384-sqm penthouse marking the successful completion of the project

Prenzlauer Berg enjoys great popularity as a hip and creative neighborhood. In addition, with its numerous parks and green spaces and excellent shopping, it is one of the most sought-after residential districts in Berlin. The neighborhood is considered particularly livable and lovable, especially by families. This is exactly where you will find Prenzlauer Berg's oldest residential building, in the middle of one of the largest Wilhelminian-style residential areas in Germany: Schönhauser Allee 55. The six apartments and two commercial units in the street front building, as well as the eleven lofts and one commercial unit in the garden building, have now all found their new owners. Sales were exclusively handled by David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft.

The history of the building dates back to 1840, when the major landowner Wilhelm Griebnow sold the then undeveloped plot of land. In 1858 the master stonemason Rudolf Müller had the street front building constructed as his summer residence – at that time still surrounded by beer gardens and restaurants for day-trippers. At the end of the 19th century, the garden building was erected, originally serving as a linen factory, and then in GDR times as a metal furniture factory and carpentry workshop. The buildings were carefully renovated between 2008 and 2010 in close cooperation with the historic preservation authorities.

Today the ensemble includes apartments, lofts and artists' studios, for which David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft has now found new owners. Most recently, a buyer was found for the garden building's spacious and light-flooded penthouse, which offers its new residents spectacular views over the rooftops of Berlin from two south-facing terraces. "Inside the penthouse, industrial charm meets urban decor and an open floor plan. Of course, the new residents also have the luxury of modern comforts, such as underfloor heating, dressing rooms and an open kitchen," says David Borck, Managing Partner of the real estate agency.

The impressive street front building from 1858 boasts a listed sandstone facade and historic stucco details. The six residential and two commercial units of the existing building offer extensive floor plans and each has a balcony or terrace, a perfect place to spend sunny days. "The 3.80-meter ceilings, large-format wooden windows and wide double-wing, wooden, coffered doors ensure bright rooms and retain the unmistakable charm of the old building, as do the classic solid wood floorboards," explains Caren Rothmann, also Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft. The garden building reflects the character of 19th-century industrial architecture: brick walls, vaulted ceilings and screed floors encapsulate the allure of the turn of the century and form a unique synthesis in combination with the lofts' open floor plans.

New-build at Bornholmer Straße 6: 96% of units successfully marketed

New apartment building in the quiet inner courtyard of the former Imperial Post Office / completion planned for summer 2022 / only one of the 24 apartments still available

Prenzlauer Berg, popular residential area and famously trendy neighborhood, is home to a large variety of restaurants, cafés and shops, all of which create a vibrant atmosphere. In the middle of the neighborhood at Bornholmer Straße 6, construction work is well underway on a new six-story apartment building with 24 units. The new building occupies the original site of the rear garden building in the quiet inner courtyard. “The demand for condominiums in urban locations in Berlin remains high. To date, four months after the start of sales, 96% of the units of the new garden building have already found their new owners. Only one of the 24 apartments is still available – the 111-sqm, 3-room penthouse,” explains David Borck, Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft. The brokerage’s 23-strong team is responsible for the exclusive sales of the new apartments at Bornholmer Straße 6, which are being built in the courtyard of the former Imperial Post Office.

The new garden building, designed by Appels Architekten Zurich, takes its inspiration from industrial architecture and translates it for a contemporary and urban context. “New and existing older buildings will form a harmonious symbiosis of past and future. The classic Berlin courtyard structure on Bornholmer Straße will be revived and the gap left by the war will be closed,” says Caren Rothmann, also Managing Partner of David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft. Following this philosophy, typical industrial features such as exposed concrete ceilings, reinforced concrete staircases and polished cement screed floors are part of the timeless character of the new building, shaping the new building’s appearance with their clear design. Floor-length windows, herringbone parquet flooring including underfloor heating as well as an elevator and electric sun protection also ensure the highest level of comfort.

Complete with a full basement, the new building’s 24 apartments are divided into three distinct types: maisonette, apartment and penthouse. The maisonettes extend for the most part from the ground floor to the first floor and offer living space of between 60 and 117 square meters. The six-meter high ceilings are particularly impressive, giving the rooms a generous openness and creating a feeling of space reminiscent of an industrial loft – without foregoing any of the comforts of a new building. The 52 to 93-square-meter apartments are located on floors two to five and are suitable for singles, couples and small families thanks to their efficient floor plans with open rooms and kitchens. The two penthouses on the sixth floor offer the most space with their 111 and 122 square meters of living space respectively. The stunning penthouses feature private rooftop terraces, which offer unobstructed views over the rooftops of Berlin. The green inner courtyard with its freshly planted trees and benches also offers all residents a welcome outdoor retreat. The courtyard also offers areas for children to play. The shell of the building is expected to be completed in November 2020, with final completion scheduled for summer 2022. The price of the remaining apartment is EUR 889,000.

Sales launch for glass penthouse

93% of units in Berlin's NeuHouse project have already been sold.

On southern Friedrichstrasse, NeuHouse is nearing completion with the final stages of construction now underway ready for the June 2020 completion date. In early summer, the ensemble's listed 1847/48 building and modern new building will come to life as the new first residents move into their luxurious new homes. With less than two months to go, only 5 of the 81 units are still available for purchase. With final completion fast approaching, the marketing campaign for the property's stunning glass penthouse has now been launched by the exclusive marketing agent, David Borck Immobiliengesellschaft GmbH. The property is being developed by Stadtgrund Bauträger GmbH, a company of UBM Development AG. "The penthouse is – in every sense of the word – an absolute highlight. It seems to float above the ensemble's exquisitely renovated older building, creating the perfect link between the newly built and existing sections of the building," explains David Borck, Managing Partner of the David Borck real estate company. The designs for the new building and the penthouse were created by the architects Gewers & Pudewill.

The double-glazed penthouse offers its new residents spectacular views over the rooftops of Berlin, the adjacent Besselpark and the surrounding creative quarter of Kreuzberg. The approximately 26-square-meter, west-facing roof terrace, which is accessible from every room, also invites residents to linger and provides the perfect backdrop for a relaxing sundowner. The penthouse's three rooms extend over a total of 122 square meters and include an en-suite bathroom with freestanding bathtub. The interior features only the highest quality fixtures and fittings throughout, such as underfloor heating, oak parquet flooring and air conditioning. "This penthouse offers its future residents the perfect blend of luxury and urban lifestyle," says Caren Rothmann, Managing Partner of the David Borck real estate company, and adds: "Berlin's artistic and start-up scenes buzz right outside the door with a host of galleries, hip cafés and restaurants, and in the penthouse residents can step back, take a welcome breather and enjoy the city from above."

This symbiosis of apparent contrasts can also be found in the rest of the ensemble: classic architecture combines seamlessly with modern new buildings, large apartments alternate with smaller units. NeuHouse has been conceived as a lively, mixed residential building, whose spatial dimensions also contribute to the urban regeneration of the wider area. The existing building, including its 14 apartments, has been meticulously renovated over the last two years to restore its original appearance. The new building comprises six commercial and 61 residential units, five of which are maisonettes with predominantly separate entrances and family-friendly floor plans.

The history of Enckestraße 4-4a in 10969 Berlin

The listed building on Enckestraße has enjoyed an eventful history. In 1847/48, the apartment building was erected close to Berlin's New Observatory and was soon joined by the Hotel Imperial. Until 1945, the neighborhood's central square was dominated by the wholesale flower market hall, which was rebuilt 20 years after its destruction and today houses the Jewish Museum Academy. Checkpoint Charlie and Friedrichstrasse are also within walking distance, and the newly redeveloped Besselpark is directly opposite.

Facts:

- 61 apartments, including 5 maisonettes and 6 commercial units in the new building
- 14 apartments, including one maisonette in the listed existing building
- 34 underground parking spaces, 4 with electric charging station
- Timeless, crisp architecture and the highest standards of home comfort, features and functionality, as well as generous, open floor plans
- Apartments with balconies, loggias, terraces or roof terraces, predominantly with park views
- Apartment with 1 to 5 rooms and floor plans of between 25 sqm and 149 sqm
- Bath tubs from brand name manufacturers, some with floor-level showers & guest bathrooms
- Underfloor heating in all living rooms in the new building, characteristic wall radiators in the existing building
- All units accessed via an elevator, barrier-free access in the new building
- Exclusively marketed by the David Borck real estate company, ready for first residents in summer 2020

The award's nominees are selected exclusively on the basis of recommendations from industry peers, agencies that list properties on ImmobilienScout24 and members of Germany's regional real estate trade associations. For this year's awards, 17,000 real estate agents were asked for their nominations via an industry-wide online survey. First, in order to be shortlisted for one of the coveted spots on the list of top real estate agencies, an agency first had to achieve a specified minimum number of recommendations. Second, the nominees needed to have been selected as candidates for the award in the previous year. They also had to be members of the IVD Real Estate Association and demonstrate outstanding service and exceptional sales skills. As a final criteria, the experience of ImmobilienScout24's registered users was also included.

"We are truly delighted to have been singled out as one of the best real estate agencies in Germany again this year and would like to thank our colleagues, peers and customers for their positive recommendations," says managing partner Caren Rothmann, who, together with her business partner David Borck, draws on their more than 30 years of experience in Berlin's real estate market to continually develop innovative marketing strategies and further refine their exclusive and personal all-round service for their clients. "Our activities extend far beyond the typical spectrum of classic real estate agency services: From pricing to the creation of professional marketing plans and project branding, brochures and websites, we develop individual strategies for each property and project we market. Our powerful marketing also includes short films for each property, including videos with drone shots and expert home staging," explains David Borck, also Managing Partner of the real estate agency.
